A Prescription for a Successful Discipleship Co-lab

- Two to six churches working at the same time, on the same discipleship content.
- Each applying the discipleship by stages concepts to its unique setting.
- Gaining learning and encouragement together.
- By learning together they reduce the cost of coaching per church.

Length: 20-24 months

The ingredients of a co-lab are:

- 1 An initial gathering of the churches' leadership to introduce the discipleship co-lab concept.
- 2 Formation of a discipleship team (D team) in each church. Teams meet monthly.
- 3 A scientifically valid "discipleship assessment" taken by each church near the beginning and again at the end of the co-lab.
- 4 Six 3-hour gatherings (once each quarter) of the D Teams of all participating churches with their AL co-leaders for learning, planning and encouragement. These often can occur virtually, via Zoom, or in person if the churches are in proximity.
- 5 Zoom coaching for the pastors and team leaders between gatherings by their assigned coach.

COVID can't stop DISCIPLESHIP!

Pastors Jon Harrison and Nick Sterner have been delighted to see the shifts in their churches: First Baptist Church and Greensburg Christian Church. The shifts are due to the first steps each church took as a result of Ascending Leaders' Kansas Discipleship Co-Lab that began August of last year. Each church has seen significant progress since taking these first steps. Yes, stay-at-home orders did cause some havoc to the discipleship co-lab work, but the churches still saw fruit.

The Discipleship teams of both churches were able to gather with the AL leaders present mid-July. The week prior to gathering, the teams each heard their own pastor share his faith story by the stages. Each team member then received the assignment to write out their own before the gathering. One team member said she wrote hers out three times before getting it just right, but it was a powerful and rewarding experience.

After months of social distancing, the teams were delighted to gather in person with their co-leaders. Together they celebrated the wins from their first steps. Each participant shared his/her faith story by the discipleship stages with another person there, and the teams worked on personalizing the discipleship stages specifically for each church.

Soon, the teams will brainstorm further action steps over the next year for their churches to fill more discipleship gaps in their congregations. The pastors will also get online coaching from the co-lab leaders.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Discipleship-Type at the Beginning: Extroverted

Newly minted Definition of Discipleship: Process of growing in love for Jesus & His Church over the course of a lifetime, demonstrated through obedience, perseverance & submission.

First Win:

- A sermon series on Galatians, with children learning the same
- A mid-week evening deeper Bible Study also on Galatians
- A lighter study the following Sunday before the worship service, to engage the many who gather for coffee at that team

Victorious over COVID frustrations by:

- Doing Bible Study with some participants in person and some joining via Zoom (hear more about this on Episode 31 of The Discipleship Podcast for Church Leaders)
- Never closing worship. Live streaming. One Sunday most all the congregation was online
- Meeting with the discipleship co-lab in person, postponed but not cancelled

Between Gatherings Mike & Matt coach, by Zoom, Pastor's Jon and Nick

In October, the teams will gather again with their co-lab co-leaders to share what has transpired, receive more teaching, plan and encourage each other.

A year ago, at the beginning of the co-lab, the churches took the RENOV spiritual Life Inventory to see the discipleship strengths and gaps of their churches. Next year, when the co-lab culminates, the churches will take the inventory again to see what progress they have made and what more progress they can make in the future.

While these two churches in rural Greensburg, Kansas are small (30-40 adults in attendance for worship each week), they committed to pay 5% of the costs of the co-lab. The Artevel Foundation, with its heart for Christian witness in rural America, is covering the other 95% of the costs.

Due to the strong success of this co-lab, AL is planning to launch others around the country, along with improvements for the co-labs to even better help churches help more members become Christ-Centered.

Go to <https://tinyurl.com/ALcolab> to see Pastor Jon and Pastor Nick each describe in under 2 minutes what is happening at their churches.

“We are glad to make it possible for Ascending Leaders to help even small rural churches in our home state get revival and hope!”

OF GREENSBURG, KS

Discipleship-Type at the Beginning: Self-Motivated

Newly minted Definition of Discipleship:

Process of teaching to continually grow in Christ by being intentional in pursuit of intimate obedience by yielding to the Holy Spirit, and then commissioning them to find others and do the same.

First Win:

- Leaders sharing their personal testimonies during worship services
- Once a month church dinners to allow people in the church to get to know the leaders more informally
- Started groups of 3-4 which met to report their reading of Scripture, ask each other accountability questions and pray for friends who needed to begin growing in Christ

Victorious over COVID frustrations by:

- Women starting "Walk the Talk" several nights each week for exercise and fellowship
- Newcomers finding the church through the livestreamed sermon
